

---

Nano be Pod ce Mega Impac fo High-Ef cienc Sepa a ion

---

Consider two grand challenges of the 21st century cited by the National Academy of Engineering: Provide access to clean water, and engineer better medicines. These seemingly unrelated global challenges share an important issue — the need for a breakthrough technology for low-cost, efficient purifications.

Inefficient separation systems