

AIChE Process Safety Policy

Safe chemical processes and process operations are essential to the well-being of the workers who operate them, the communities in which they operate, the environment, and the organizations which own them. Advancing methods and education for